Planning a vacation with the dual purpose of looking at real estate in Angel Fire or for a home in Taos, New Mexico? While you are travelling or looking for mountain property, great food with relaxing dining ambience is a must.

Taos offers a variety of dining experiences. For one of the best upscale gourmet dining experiences in Taos, visit Joseph's Table in the Hotel La Fonda on the Plaza. If you want the great food, but don't want to pay a large tab sit at the bar and order from the grill menu. Enjoy a sunset over the Rio Grande Gorge while gourmet dining in a hacienda-like setting at The Stakeout located a few miles south of Taos (you can't miss the lit-up sign). Outback Pizza in El Prado is a popular local hang-out with the best pizza in town. Dine inside or out under the trees, enjoying one of their unique pizza creations or choosing your own toppings. Doc Martin's at the Taos Inn, within walking distance of the Plaza, has great gourmet or Mexican food, spirits to lift your spirits, and live music several nights of the week. Also just off the Plaza on Bent Street are the Bent Street Deli and the Apple Tree, both popular establishments. You're in New Mexico and you want to eat Mexican food? Of course you do! Orlando's and the Guadalajara Grill are two restaurants where you can't go wrong.

If you are looking for more of a mountaintop experience, cool off in Angel Fire which sits above 8400 feet in elevation (bring a sweater). Angel Fire offers a variety of dining choices. Angel Fired Pizza has excellent views of the Angel Fire Ski Mountain while providing tasty pizza creations or choices of your own toppings with a nice glass of wine or refreshing beer. Craving veggies? Yu Garden uses fresh ingredients in their extensive menu of Chinese food with no added MSG. For one of the best dining experiences in the Enchanted Circle visit the Roasted Clove. The gourmet meals ranging from seafood, to elk medallions or wild boar chile rellenos with all fresh ingredients, exotic desserts and an extensive wine list will make this the dining experience you will remember. Dos Amigos has great Mexican food with a very extensive menu. For breakfast, lunch or dinner, Avalon's has it all from bakery items, to a full breakfast, fresh tasty sandwiches and roll-ups, or a full dinner menu.

You don't have to rough it for dining while you're vacationing, and you don't have to rough it for service while you are looking for a mountain home in Angel Fire or a condo in Taos.
