Fall has officially arrived in Taos!

It isn't only the Fall Equinox that marks the beginning of fall or the changing of the aspen to their glorious golden glow...it is the beginning of the Fall Season for Art in Taos!

Many people come to Taos to experience the nature and the history, but many more come to experience high quality fine art and craft.

Tomorrow marks the opening of the 35th annual Taos Fall Arts Festival. This is the beginning of the fall season for art in Taos where emerging artist get to show their work in the Taos Open, while established artist are juried in to the coveted category of Taos Invites Taos, and Taos Living Masters are recognized for their continued artistic excellence.

Many galleries also host openings for their artists in special fall shows. Art is everywhere in Taos, NM. We boast to be one of the highest concentrated artistic regions in the world.

What draws artists to Taos? As an artist myself (you can see my work in the "Taos Invites Taos" section of the Fall Arts Festival or at www.paulaverona.com!), it was the light, blue sky and sunshine. I give thanks each and every day for having moved to Taos!

However...you don't have to be an artist or an art lover to appreciate all that Taos has to offer. There is truly something here for everyone.

So...if you are looking for fabulous art, come to Taos. If you are looking to simplify your life, come to Taos. If you are looking for a great 4-season climate in which to retire, come to Taos. If you just want to come for the world class skiing, come to Taos. Whatever your reasons, Taos will welcome you. Once you come to visit, you will return again and again.

If you are thinking of Taos as a possible second home or a retirement location, my agents at New Mexico Mountain Properties are experts in Taos Real Estate. We go the extra mile to provide you with excellent service whether you are looking for Taos land to build your dream home, an authentic adobe Taos home, or maybe even a condo in the Taos Ski Valley to use yourself or as an investment property, we can assist with all your Taos Real Estate requirements. Just e-mail us or give us a call. We love to introduce others to the joy of living in this very special community.

Thanks for visiting my blog and maybe I will see you at the show!
